Tubing & Casing.
We would call the particular attention of dealers and producers to this style of Tubing and Casing. One of the important features in the manufacture of our Tubing is, that the Lap and the Weld
are made perfectly straight, smooth and uniform, thereby giving equal and great strength to the tubing throughout.
Each joint carefully inspected, reamed at end, and proved with the sockets on at a hydraulic pressure of 1,500 per inch to the square inch before shipment.

Senator Conkling's Masterly Speech.

AT COOPER INSTITUTE, NEW YORK, FRIDAY, JULY 23, 1872

The following is an extract from Senator Conkling's great New York speech, in New York the other night:

SAN DOMINGO

Let us examine the evidence, and, first of all, let us take up the charges and evidence against him. The San Domingo treaty, unlike going to Long Branch, or smoking a cigar, or riding in a palace-car, was a matter of public business, and is, therefore, a topic not despicable or unworthy. His guilt and his innocence in this respect can all be briefly stated.

The Monroe doctrine is one of the traditions of the country and of both political parties. The Monroe doctrine means opposition to acquisitions on this continent by European powers. When President Grant came in no such question was pending, but such a question soon arose. An agent from the Dominican Republic presented himself to the President, saying that the people of Dominica, few in numbers, but rich in one of the most fertile isles of any sea, lying close to our shores, wanted to come under the American flag; and that, failing to do so, they would look to a European alliance. The President made no reply, and afterward a

Death of Benito Juarez, President of Mexico

A dispatch from Matamoras conveys intelligence of the death, on the night of the 18th inst, from an attack of apoplexy, of Benito Juarez, for several years past President of the Republic of Mexico The deceased was born at Villa Ixtlan, in the State of Oaxaca, in 1807, and was of Indian extraction He received a liberal education graduated at the College of Oaxaca, and in 1830 was made a member of the Institute of Arts and Sciences When the time arrived for a choice of a profession, he selected that of the law, and in its practice gained considerable distinction For some time he held the position of professor of canonical law in the Institute of Oaxaca Politics received from him early attention, and he soon took an active part therein as a Liberal member of the Legislature of his State Made presiding judge, he was in 1846 elected deputy to the Mexican Congress He was active in the administration of the law by which church property was secularized to meet the requirements of the war with the United States from 1846 to 1848 From 1848 to 1852 he held the position of Governor of his native State, and on his retirement left a balance in the public treasury Banished by Santa Anna in 1853, he resided in New Orleans until May, 1855 when he returned and accompanied Alvarez from Acapulco to Cuernavaca where he was a representative in the Assembly and until December, 1855, was Minister of Justice under Alvarez While in this office he promulgated the Ley Juarez, abolishing the privileges of the clergy and the army Commonfort then appointed him Governor of Oaxaca, in November, 1857, made him Secretary of State and subsequently he was appointed President of the Supreme Court of Justice After the withdrawal of Commonfort in January, 1858, Juarez became, in virtue of his office, constitutional President of Mexico On January 19, of that year he established his government in Guanajuata The reverses of civil war afterwards compelled him to remove it to Colima From May 1 1859, he officiated at Vera Cruz but at the close of 1860 had compelled his opponent, Miramon, to abdicate and flee the country On January 11 1861, Juarez entered the City of Mexico, formed his Cabinet, and in June was elected President Then came European intervention, and the short-lived Empire of Maximilian Driven by the French army from place to place, in 1866 he still held out against the enemies of his country but the French army being withdrawn in 1866, he succeeded in defeating the Imperial forces early in 1877, captured Maximilian, whose execution he ordered June 16, 1867, in October was re elected to the Presidency, and again in 1867 He was by far the most able of Mexico's later statesmen, and his loss will be deeply felt by the country

Our Washington Letter

WASHINGTON, D C, July 24

Although the thermometer still indicates very hot weather, there is considerable air stirring, and it is quite comfortable in and around Washington

The President arrived in town yesterday morning in time to meet his Cabinet The business of their meeting was simply routine, the Geneva Arbitration not being discussed for want of necessary reliable information The President has been very busy yesterday and to-day receiving visitors (Spotted Tail and his chiefs among the number, and consulting with certain members of his Cabinet and others on public matters He will leave here either to-night or to-morrow night for Long Branch, and in a few days take a short trip to Canada and sail down the St Lawrence

The latest reports from North Carolina are most favorable for the Republicans While the Democrats, the unterrified, claim the State by 5 000, the Republicans are more sanguine that they will carry the State by at least from 8,000 to 10,000 Secretary Boutwell's speech is being published in full by every Republican newspaper in the State

Senator Sumner still refuses to write that long-looked-for letter the Democrats so much desire It is well understood that while Mr Sumner would like do to anything almost to beat Grant, he does not much like the idea of affiliating with rebels, which he would have to do by opposing the re-election of Grant

The charges made by Senator Schurz, in his St Louis speech, to the effect that he had been offered official patronage by President Grant or his friends, to vote against his convictions of duty in regard to the annexation of San Domingo, has been brought to the attention of the President, who pronounces the whole statement, as far as it attempts to refer to him, as absolutely unfounded in fact In no way was any one over authorized to tender to Mr Schurz or any other Senator the control or use of any patronage for his approval of the San Domingo annexation policy or any other measure of this administration The President expresses his earnest desire that Mr Schurz will at once publish the letter he claims to have relative to the pretended proffer, in order that if any one has so imposed upon the Senator it may lead to a full exposé of the dishonest motives and character of such person

Hon J M Ashley, of the impeachment notoriety, it will be remembered, has not received the favors he would like from the Executive After his district declared his "services no longer needed" in Congress, he naturally enough, insisted that the Republican party should take care of him, but the President didn't see it, and accordingly the Hon Jim comes out for Greeley and Brown, and has been on to New York trying to get money from their Committees to start a paper in Toledo, Ohio, the Hon Jim's home

The death of John Potts, Esq, Chief Clerk of the War Department, this morning, casts a gloom over the whole department, and among his numerous friends outside Mr P was in the 55th year of his age, having been in that department 36 years, the last 16 its Chief Clerk He has always been noted for honesty and faithfulness to duty, and Secretary Stanton regarded him as an incorruptible man

Secretary Delano's speech at Raleigh, N C, yesterday evening, is spoken of as being one of the ablest yet made, and will doubtless be thrown into type and used as a campaign document

The Greeley and Brown committee here is almost moving heaven and earth to raise money to carry on the campaign Thus far it is understood that the Liberals are the only ones coming forward with their stamps This committee has already ordered printed some two hundred documents.

The law of the District of Columbia compelling the proprietors of ice cream saloons and restaurants to display their prices publicly, and provide for negroes, goes into operation to day For two or three years past there has been no little trouble occasioned by the refusal of first-class restaurants to sell liquors or eatables to colored people In many instances there has been law suits commenced by the latter claiming damages, but as yet not a single claim has been sustained The restaurants have entered into an agreement, and have had printed the following price list, and they are now being placed in every respectable bar room in the city Brandy, $1, plain whisky, 50 cents plain gin, 50 cents, mixed drinks, from 75 cents to $1 50

It is the intention of the barkeeper when a colored man wants a drink to hand him the price list, hoping thereby to rid themselves of them They have had printed the card "Liberal reduction will be made to regular customers."

Beau Hickman, the gentlemanly beggar of Washington during the past forty years, comes out for Greeley and Brown Beau says he wants to see the Democrats again in power, for they are the only ones who ever dealt liberally with him, i e, to contribute liberally to his support in idleness Beau is now over seventy, and very lame and walks with a cane In early life he and his sisters was left with a large and valuable property The property was sold and Beau spent it in a very short time, both his own and his sister's share, and since that time, until quite recently, he has been enabled to live in luxury from his assessments (as he styles it) upon new members of Congress and strangers coming to Washington He still dresses well and smokes a good cigar, but is compelled to take his lodgings and board with a negro family in an alley LIFE

Change of Gauge on the Erie and Atlantic & Great Western Railways.

Among the improvements contemplated by the new directors of the Erie Railway Company is a change from the broad gauge of six feet to the narrow gauge of four feet and nine inches This important alteration will be made gradually, and a third rail will be laid between the old rails New rolling stock will be supplied as fast as the old stock wears out Meanwhile the broad gauge will be used, but all the new locomotives and cars will be of the other pattern Both gauges will be used for four or five years The running expenses will be largely reduced by the use of narrow gauge rolling stock The Atlantic & Great Western Railway Company is now laying a narrow gauge track, and this renders the change of the Erie gauge imperative

Political.

A Herald Raleigh North Carolina dispatch says that Schurz left St Louis Thursday night to fulfill his speaking engagements in North Carolina The over tures mentioned in his speech were made to him by General Pleasanton, when he was Commissioner of Internal Revenue Schurz met Pleasanton in New York, and when the overture was made Schurz at once declined to consider it, but when he got back to Missouri he wrote Pleasanton, to which Pleasanton made answer in a letter which Schurz now has He will make it public in North Carolina

A Washington dispatch says that more of the rebel archives will soon be made public Among them are letters from Holcomb and Clay, the associates of Sanders They relate to transactions referred to generally by Thompson

Gov McCook, of California, told a reporter in New York, yesterday, that the feeling in his section of country is all for Grant One reason why the western people oppose Greeley is because they are free-traders

Ex Judge Clerke resigned from the Tammany General Committee, of New York His letter says he is disenfranchised at the conduct of Reformed Tammany, and the nomination of Greeley

A World Philadelphia letter says the Pennsylvania State Central Committee have had in their possession for two weeks a letter from General Hartranft withdrawing from the gubernatorial candidacy, if in the judgment of the Committee it be wise

Carl Schurz in a letter to the Tribune says the letter quoted in his St Louis speech concerning the patronage in connection with the San Domingo business was addressed to him by General Alfred Pleasanton, late Commissioner of Internal Revenue was written, says Schurz, in reply to a note from me of the contents which I have a memorandum which reads as follows Ask Pleasanton whether he remembers a conversation he had with me concerning San Domingo, in which he said that if I would support the President I should have all the patronage I wanted, &c, ask him whether he was authorized by the President to do so. General Pleasanton's letter to reply is quoted in my speech I have since received from General Pleasanton the following note

NEW YORK, July 25 1872

DEAR GENERAL—Of course I have no objection to your giving my name to the public In explanation of the last I would say that, as a friend of the President as well as of yourself, I desired you should be on good terms and you should understand that there was no personal feeling in the way of relations mutually satisfactory Your statement is correct that the President wanted your support for his San Domingo scheme and that you could have had the patronage of the government for giving it Thus was the distinct impression the President's conversation made upon my mind and I communicated to you at the time If the President positively denies having had any such conversation in regard to it, I may console myself with the reflection that this is the first time that any statement of mine has been questioned, while the President has had occasion before this to distrust the accuracy of his recollections Truthfully yours,

LAST NIGHTS DISPATCHES

Letter from Dr. Livingstone

The New York Herald of to-day has another letter from Dr Livingstone received by cable from London and addressed to Mr Bennett The following is an extract In trying to make the eastern African slave trade better known to Americans, I indulge the hope that I am adding, although in a small degree, to bring about the good time coming yet, when slavery, as well as piracy will be chased from the world Many have but a faint idea of the evils that trading in slaves inflicts on the victims and authors of its atrocities The slaves generally and especially those on the west coast at Zanzibar, and elsewhere are extremely ugly I have no prejudice against their color, indeed any one who lives long among them forgets they are black, and feels they are fellow men, but the low retreating forehead, prognathous jaws, lank bellies, and other physical peculiarities, common among slaves and most African negroes, always awaken some feelings of aversion, would not utter a syllable calculated to press down the other class more deeply in the mire in which it is already sunk, but I wish to point out that there are not typical Africans anymore than typical Englishmen, and that the natives on nearly all the high lands of the interior of the continent are, as a rule, fair average specimens of humanity I happened to be present when all the heads or tribes of the great chief Mesmo, who lives west of the south end of Lake Tanganyka They had come together to make peace with certain Arabs, who had burned their chief town, and I am certain one could not see more finely formed intellectual heads in any assembly in London or Paris, and faces and forms corresponded finely with the shape of heads Mesmo himself, had been a sort of Napoleon for fighting and conquering in his younger days Many of the women are very pretty, and I be a lidies, would have been much prettier if they had only let themselves alone Fortunately the dears couldn't change their charming black eyes, beautiful foreheads, nicely rounded limbs well shaped forms, and small hands and feet, but must adorn themselves, and this they do, o, the hussies! by filing splendid teeth to points, like cut tacks They are not black, but of a light warm brown color Cazembe, Queen of the Moeris Nyemoe would be esteemed a real beauty either in London, Paris or New York, yet she had a small hole through the cartilage near the tip of her fine slightly aquiline nose

The door or details the peculiarities of the people called Rua, and lists of a number at them who were captives dying of broken hearts They had no complaint but pain in the heart and they pointed out its seat correctly, though many believe the heart situated underneath the top of the sternum or breastbone This to me was the most startling death I ever saw

The water shed is a broad belt of tree covered upland, some seven hundred miles in length from West to East The general altitude is between four and five thousand feet above the sea and the mountains which stand on it at various points are between six and seven hundred feet above the ocean level On this water shed springs arise which are well nigh innumerable These springs join each other and form brooks, which again converge and become rivers or streams of twenty, forty or eighty yards, that never dry All flow toward the centre of an immense valley, which I believe to be the valley of the Nile In this trough we have at first three large rivers then all unite into one immense Lunsumbe river, the central line of drainage, which I name Webb's Balaba In this great valley there are five great lakes The one near the upper end is called Lake Bellba, or more properly, Bangwala but it is not a source of the Nile for no large river begins in a lake I is supplied by a river called the Chombey, and seve al others which may be considered sources, and out of it flows the larger river Luapula, which enters Lake Moera and comes out as great lake river Luabalo, to form Lake Komolondo West of Komolondo, but still in the great valley lies Lake Lincoln, which I name as my tribute of love to the great and good men America enjoyed for some time, and the last one of the three great rivers I mentioned Bartle Tresse, or Lufira, falls into Komolondo lake Lincoln becomes a Lacustrine river, and it, too, joins the central line of drainage, but lower down, and all these united form the fifth Lake, which flows out to me instead of men, forced me to my great grief to leave The unknown Lake, by my reckoning, the barometer being a liar, is five degrees of longitude west of Speke's position at Ujiji This makes it probable that the great Lacustrine river, in the valley is the western branch of Patherick's Nile, the Gahan Ghazal, and Nortesa-tern branch which Speke, Grant and Baker believes to the river of Egypt If correct, this would make the Nile, only after all the Bahr Ghazal enters the eastern arm I found that mighty river left its washing and flowed right away to the north The two great western drains the Lufira and Tomaine running east before joining the central line or main webbs Lualaba I was told that the western side of the Great Vally was high like the eastern, and as the main is reported to go into large ready lakes it can scarcely be enough elevated the western arm of the Nile But besides all this, on which it is quite poss I may be mistaken, we have two facts on probably the seven hundred miles of water shed, and giving rise to rivers the Loambo or upper Zambe and the Kafue, which flow into inner Ethopia and two tributaries are reported to rise in the same quarter and forming the Lufina and Tenome, flows, as we have seen, to the north

The country abounds in food of all kinds and rich soil raises every thing planted in great luxuriance A friend of mine tried rice and to between three and four months the crop increased one hundred and twenty fold Three measures of seed yielded three hundred and sixty measures Maize is so abundant that I have seen forty five loads, each above sixty pounds weight, given for a single goat Maize, dura and hahne, sorgum, benneseum, cassava, sweet potatoes and yams, furnish in quantated measure farinaceous ingredients for diet Palm and ground nuts and a tarest tree afford fatty matter for food Bananas and plantains are found in great profusion and the sugar cane, the sachonne, the palm, bananas, tobacco, and vegno gave the luxuries of life The villages swarm with goats, sheep, hogs, pigs and fowls, while elephants, buffaloes and zebras, and yakos or gorillas, yield to the expert hunters plenty of nitro-genous ingredients of human food DAVID LIVINGSTONE

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Medicinal Poisons on the Wane.—The patriarchs took no mercury, no bismuth, no iodine, no bromide of potassium no strychnine, no jamine Happy old gentlemen they did not dream of the existence of these "specifics" and yet they lived until it seemed as if Death had forgotten them Their medicines were herbs and roots They have left this fact on record, and the world seems to be now taking more of it and returning to the first principles of medicine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the purest and most efficacious vegetable restorative of the day is also the most popular Thousands of persons who only a few years ago believed that pills and the poisons which figure in pharmacy are now pronounce this palatable tonic and alterative an all sufficient remedy for dyspepsia in every debility, constipation bilious complaints, nervous debility, inter it tent fevers, and all the ordinary disturbances of the stomach, the liver the digestive organs and the bowels But time is not far distant when most of the powerful and venomous drugs now so recklessly administered by practitioners of the "therapeutic" school, in cases which might easily be controlled by milder treatment, will be turn by disgust aid by all philosophic physicians And the thinking public, who are generally ahead of the profession is, has already put the dangerous preparations aside and adopted Hostetter's Bitters in their stead as a safe and excellent household medicine adapted to almost every element except the organic and fatally chronic diseases For more than twenty years this famous restorative and preventive has been manufactured and sold upon its merits, and it is now take the lead of every diversified medicine manufactured in this country

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

OFFICE MORNING HERALD,
TITUSVILLE, PA, July 26—9 p. m.

The market all round was very quiet, and hardly quotable, as there were scarcely any transactions The feeling was a little easier, though there was but little change to figure, sellers hoping to induce a better tone by holding off, and consequently offering no oil except such as there was a necessity for moving at once. The few transactions effected were limited to spot, there being no disposition to speculate in futures On the Upper road spot was sold at $3 67½, and one small lot of Church Run oil at $3 70 The Lower road was held at $3 70, with two or three sales at $3 65@$3 70 Oil City was dull with sales at $3 80 @$3 85 At Parker's the market was off and there were little lots sold at $3 65, $3 62½ being the prevailing bid

The analysis was made by the Professor of Chemistry in the Laboratory of the Philadelphia University of Medicine and Surgery.

H. L. Richmond, Esq., the Republican Nominee for Congress in the Twentieth District.

The Republican Conference in this district, terminated its deliberations yesterday morning by unanimously choosing Mr H L Richmond, of Meadville, as the Republican nominee for Congress in this district. This is a special compliment to Crawford county, and is on the principle of rotation. Mercer county has the Representative now and Venango enjoyed that distinction the term previous. Mr Richmond is not a new man. No one is better known to all classes, and by all he is respected for his professional abilities as a lawyer as well as high personal character in all the relations of life. His Republicanism dates with the earliest formation of our political organization. He has been an active worker in all its campaigns, and an earnest and eloquent advocate of its leading principles, and defender of its general policy and measures. In mature life, he will bring to his public duties large experience in business affairs, a liberal culture, and an intelligent appreciation of questions requiring legislative discussion and action. Not identified with factions, but appealing to his constituents as a representative of political principles never more deeply cherished, and never more vital, than they are to day, Mr Richmond would be, on personal grounds, a formidable candidate, were this a close district, but as it is, with a full vote, Republican by thousands, he will of course be triumphantly elected. The issues, the antagonistic parties and the strongly contrasted candidates in the National contest before us, will stir old-line, true-blue, thick and thin Republicans to an activity and zeal that have never before been surpassed.

GRAND REPUBLICAN RALLY.—By a notice in another column it will be seen that our Republican friends of Rouseville open the campaign next Monday by a pole raising in the afternoon and a speech from Hon Glenni W Scofield, of Warren. A free special train will run from Franklin to Rouseville and return after the meeting. That there will be a rousing meeting is a settled fact. The Republicans of that place are in earnest and bound to win two votes for Grant from the former Democratic party, to every one that they lose to the piebald Tammany conglomeration. Mr Scofield is one of the most effective speakers in the State. His long service in Congress eminently fits him to discuss the great questions of the present canvass. If possible, an extra train will be obtained to run from Titusville to Rouseville that evening.

CAVING OF THE PINE STREET SEWER TRENCH.—During the heavy rain of last Thursday night about fifteen feet of the bank of the Pine street sewer trench caved in. Mr Bell, the contractor, set a heavy force of men to work yesterday morning, and discovered that about ten feet of the brick arch had been covered up. The earth was speedily removed and the work went on as usual. The strength of the brick arch was thoroughly tested by this mishap, as the impact force of the weight falling upon it must have been enormous.

THE Congressional Conference was marked by good feeling and harmony, both among members and the candidates. Mr Gillilan's letter of withdrawal was conceived in a generous spirit, and does him honor. He would have received an enthusiastic support had the choice fallen upon him, and the party could not have had a more faithful and consistent Representative. The personal and political influence he enjoys in Venango county and the district will be cordially given to Mr Richmond.

CARD OF THANKS.—Some of the children who attended the recent picnic of the Baptist church desire to express their thanks to the pastor and members of that church for the enjoyable time and rare treat they had on that occasion. The letter which we received asking us to speak their minds on this matter enlarges upon the amount, variety and excellence of the substantials, as well as the delicacies, that covered the well arranged tables.

THE BALL AT BATES' GROVE.—A ball was given last night in Bates' Grove by Kohr's Titusville Union Cornet Band. The dance by torchlight was such a novelty that the grounds were thronged with visitors from ten o'clock till past midnight. The affair was a great success. Nothing happened to mar the pleasure of the entertainment, and everything passed off as happily as the most sanguine could have desired.

THE article on "Tionesta," which came out in the Courier yesterday as editorial, we wrote and published in the HERALD on Tuesday last. But we can say this for our cotemporary, that it does not always display such good taste in the selections of "original" matter.

BIG WELL AT PETROLIA.—A well was struck at Petrolia, a day or two since, that yesterday was flowing at the rate of 200 barrels, and throwing the oil over the top of the derrick. It is owned by Messrs Adams, Bligh and others.

Congressional Conference—Nomination of Colonel H. L. Richmond

The Congressional Conference of the Twentieth District, which met at Parker's Landing a few days ago, and adjourned to Franklin, closed its labors yesterday by unanimously nominating Colonel H L Richmond, of Meadville.

The Conference was composed of the following members:

From Crawford County—J G Fuller, of Meadville, E P Mortland of Conneautville and Colonel O Kease of this city.

From Venango County—C E Taylor, John L Mitchell and P R Gray, all of Franklin.

From Mercer County—J W McConnell, of Milledgeville, David Hunt, of Greenville, and Harry Watson, editor of the Greenville Argus.

From Clarion County—T P Lyon of Shiloh, J R Serrill, of Pollock, and E F Lorah, of Rimersburg.

Mr Foster, of Meadville, was chosen Chairman and Mr Gray, of Franklin, Secretary.

At the adjournment Thursday evening fifty two ballots had been taken, all but one of which showed the following result: Hon W Waugh received the three votes of Mercer County, Hon C W Gillilan the three of Venango County, while Col H L Richmond, of Meadville, received the six votes cast by Crawford and Clarion Counties. On one ballot Mr Waugh received one vote and Clarion County.

After the close of the session Thursday, Mr Gillilan drew up and handed to his conferees the following letter which was read to the Conference at its opening Friday morning:

FRANKLIN, PA., July 25, 1872.

To the Congressional Conference:

GENTLEMEN—You have been in session for days without being able to make a nomination. At this particular and important period of the campaign, the interests of the party demand that your deliberations shall not be protracted. Two years ago I was honored with a nomination by our party for Congress, but the deep-seated apathy in the party at that time and the local dissensions over which I had no control, and for which I was not responsible, led to my defeat. I have again been honored in my county by an unprecedented vote for said office, but other counties lay claim of a local character which cannot be entirely disregarded, except at the risk of disaffection. I regard the maintenance of Republican principles, and the success of the party paramount to personal ambition or personal success, therefore to shorten your deliberations and promote harmony in the party I respectfully withdraw my name from the Conference, and leave my conferees free to such choice as to them may seem proper, and by justice and may in the largest measure contribute to the success of the party.

I sincerely thank my conferees for their devotion to my interest and to the other members of the Conference my thanks are due for their uniform courtesy toward me. Very respectfully yours,

C W GILLILAN.

The foregoing letter was offered and read by Mr Chas E Taylor, and produced a profound impression.

Mr Harry Watson, of Greenville, then moved that the nomination of Col H L Richmond be declared unanimous, which was promptly seconded by Mr McConnell, of Clarion county, and Messrs Gray and Mitchell, of Venango county. The motion was carried.

In view of the patriotic course of Mr Gillilan, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That we recognize in Hon C W Gillilan a true Republican, who regards the success and harmony of the party paramount to personal ambition. The thanks of this Conference and of the Republicans of the whole District are due him, not only for his magnanimous course at the present juncture, but for the able manner in which he represented the District in the 41st Congress.

The following resolution was passed expressive of the opinions of the members of the Conference in regard to Hon Wm Waugh, of Mercer county:

Resolved, That the Hon Wm Waugh should be favorably remembered for his devotion to Republican principles, and his ardent desire for our triumph in the political conflict in which we are about entering.

The Conference having no further business to transact adjourned sine die.

IMPORTANT CHANGES.—The State Central Committee held a meeting at Harrisburg on Thursday, Hon Russel Errett presiding. Gen Harry White, who was in nomination as one of the Congressmen-at-Large, and also as Delegate-at-Large for the Constitutional Convention, tendered his resignation of the former office. During the last days of the session of Congress, a law was passed giving those States which had the largest surplus over the regular apportionment another member, and thereby our State gained an additional member. The apportionment bill failing to become a law at our last Legislature, we elect three Congressmen-at-Large. For the vacant place and for the third member at large, the committee chose Hon GLENNI W SCOFIELD, of Warren County, and General CHARLES ALBRIGHT, of Carbon County. For the third Elector-at-Large, W D Wharton, Esq., of Philadelphia, one of the most distinguished colored men in the State, was unanimously elected. Dr Freeman, Elector of the Tenth Congressional District, having resigned, W J Colegrove was elected in his place.

These nominations are all of the highest order and add immensely to the strength of the ticket. It is unnecessary to tell our readers who Mr Scofield is. He has represented the 19th District for the last ten years. He was elected in 1862 and re-elected in 1864, 1866, 1868 and 1870 and has now a national reputation. At the last Republican National Convention just held he was selected as chairman of the Committee on Resolutions. He is a tower of strength in the party and his voice will be heard on the stump through the State. He has already delivered several speeches. He speaks at Rouseville next Monday night.

General Charles Albright, of Carbon county, is no stranger to Pennsylvanians as a powerful speaker and enters the contest with his whole heart in the work. The selection of W D Wharton is a just tribute to great personal worth and at the same time a proper acknowledgment to a very important and powerful element in our party. The Republican party is and always has been eminently governed by the rule of giving honor to whom honor is due, and we are glad that they have placed Mr Wharton on the electoral ticket.

Granger & Co.'s Grocery Establishment Coffee and Spice Mills

The firm of Granger & Co., wholesale grocers, on the corner of Franklin and Pine streets, have recently added to their extensive establishment a coffee and spice mill. The premises cover an area of 62 feet on Franklin by 260 on Pine streets, and the mill is situated in a new building at the extreme westerly end on Pine street. The machinery is run by an eight horse Baxter engine and boiler, which style of engine appears to be highly suited to works of this description, occupying as it does, a comparatively limited area, and requiring no more fuel than that of an ordinary stove, say about three pails of coal per day. The coffee is roasted by Burns' Patent Roaster, which is a recent invention far superior in almost every respect to the ordinary steam coffee roaster. The one in question is capable of roasting about 2,000 pounds of coffee per day. It comprises an ordinary boiler iron cylinder, two feet in diameter by four feet in length, fastened to the interior of which are four Archimedian screws, two having their pitch running in one direction and two in the other. The cylinder revolves with very little friction on iron rollers projecting from the front and rear end of the furnace. The cylinder is enclosed in a brick furnace of sufficient thickness to retain the heat, and is supported on cast iron front and rear plates. The cylinder is constructed with a revolving disc opening in the front, upon the principle of an ordinary air draft in a stove. A tryer passes through the centre of the disc which enables the operator to examine the coffee at any stage of the process. The coffee is introduced through a hopper on the top and passes in at the rear, and, as the cylinder revolves, each grain is kept in a constant state of motion, passing alternately from front to rear, and from bottom to top. This process renders it impossible for one grain to be roasted more than another. The motion is kept up from morning to night, without the necessity of stopping either to fill the cylinder, to try the coffee, or to discharge it. When the front door is opened, the coffee is projected into a large wooden trough, with double bottom. The false bottom is made of perforated sheet-iron plate. Here the coffee is subjected to a powerful blast of cold air from a steam blower, which passes up through the false bottom, and cools the coffee in about five minutes. It is then ready for packing. The superiority of coffee roasted by this machine is self-evident, every grain is of a uniform shade of color, both on the exterior and interior. The firm have made arrangements to purchase the entire importation of the genuine pea berry Mocha coffee. The flavor of this coffee is considered far superior to any other brand in the market. All grades of coffee will be roasted as required by the trade.

A mixer for the exclusive manufacture of baking powder is also attached to the engine. It is constructed upon the same principle as the roaster, and is capable of compounding 2,000 pounds of baking powder per day. They intend manufacturing a superior article of baking powder, which will be put up in all the different styles of packages for the trade. A granulator for coffee, upon an improved principle, has been ordered, and will be delivered here in a few days. Two sets of burrs, one for cream of tartar and the other for grinding spices, will also in a few days be added to the establishment. Passing from the mill to the main building, we find a very heavy stock of groceries of every description. The firm intend making a specialty of the tea business, being able to furnish the trade at New York and Philadelphia prices without extra charge for freight. They defy competition from any of the larger cities in this particular branch. The samples are displayed on the second floor, where by means of a gas stove hot water is prepared at a moment's notice for testing. They have an extensive stock of sugars, tobaccoes and choice imported wines and liquors for medicinal and family use. They have the exclusive sale in the oil region of Gail & Ax granulated smoking tobacco, also of the celebrated "Golden Sweet" fine cut chewing tobacco, and Granger's "No Name" fine cut chewing tobacco. From one to two thousand barrels of flour are ordinarily kept on hand, and their trade in this article amounts to about five hundred barrels per week. They have the exclusive sale of the following brands of flour: Sinclair Mills, What Cheer Mills, Huron Mills, Cleveland Mills, Lafayette Mills, Cumberland Mills, and Grant's U S. Sugars are supplied at refiner's prices, with the simple freight added. In fact there is no branch of the grocery business which they do not understand, and no article of which they are not competent and excellent judges. Their facilities for purchasing are second to no firm, even the largest in the eastern cities, and they have abundance of capital to purchase at low rates for cash. They intend to devote their entire attention to manufacturing and jobbing, dropping their retail business entirely.

Granger and Co have had about twenty years experience in the trade and are the oldest firm in this branch of business in the oil region. With their present facilities they are confident of being able to increase their sales during the current year to $1,500,000.

WHAT THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN KNOWS ABOUT FARMING.—The Country Gentleman, the best agricultural paper published, has the following, which will apply pretty well hereabouts: The frequent showers of the last three weeks have retarded hay making and improved the growth of grass on all our meadows. Yet we shall not store more than half an average crop. Haying is about half done, and the new hay brings $20 per ton, with few farmers who dare sell. Oats and barley are good, with a generous growth of straw, which will go far to supplement the short hay crop. Weeds are luxuriant on all our farms where due attention is given to their cultivation. There is no difficulty whatever in securing full crops and seeding bountifully for next year.

IT is estimated that the prevalence of small pox in Erie has entailed upon that city a business loss of two hundred thousand dollars. Keeping the city streets clean, wholesome, and disinfected may cost the city and people a few dollars, but it drives away disease. It will save thousands of dollars in the end to all classes.

THE CROSS CUT ROAD IN COURT.—In the United States Court at Erie this week an injunction was granted to restrain the creditors of the Buffalo, Corry & Pittsburgh Railroad from having its property sold at Sheriff's sale. An application to declare the company bankrupt is to be heard on the 29th.

WHAT THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS COST IN ERIE.—The school expenditures in the city during the year ending June 3d, 1872, were $63,008 including $18,945 for new buildings. The Board had a surplus of nearly $8,000 at the close of the year.

The Refiners' Convention.

EXPLANATION BY A CREEK REFINER

Editor Herald:

The letter which appeared in your yesterday's issue dated from Oil City, headed "The Modern South Improvement Company—The Wolf Appearing in Sheep's Clothes," and purporting to come from an interested party, is greatly in error in its statement of facts, and consequently being faulty in premises, draws the most absurd conclusions. Since the failure of the unprincipled scheme of the South Improvement Company, neither the refiners of Cleveland, Pittsburgh, New York or the Creek, have made any attempt at corporate combination. They have met and held conventions in Pittsburgh, Titusville, New York, and Long Branch, and are now sitting in Cleveland for an altogether different purpose. Their meetings have been open and above board, and their object has been correctly, though briefly, set forth in your columns from time to time. That there may in future be no misunderstanding in regard to this movement, I will, as a Creek refiner, state that our interests, as well as the interests of producers, have been greatly injured by the practice of speculators on the seaboard selling refined oil short. An example of this kind took place not over a week ago, when the refined market was forced down to the ruinous figure of 22 cents—altogether unjustified by the law of supply and demand. What is the result? The moment there is a decline in the price of refined on the seaboard, refiners cannot afford to pay the ruling rates for crude, without the risk of losing money. This at once reflects upon the producer, and is one evil which it has become necessary to remedy. There are now about 50,000 barrels refining capacity in the United States, which is nearly three times the amount required for the production. The consequence is that a much larger amount of refined oil is constantly thrown on the market than the demand will justify, competition in refined becomes ruinous, and in order to realize there are always some who are willing to sell a shade lower than the market price. This affects the entire trade, as it takes comparatively little oil to make a market. It also reflects directly upon the producer and tends to keep down the price of crude. In order to get rid of these difficulties and keep up the market price of refined to a legitimate standard, the refiners have held their meetings. The plan which appears to meet the views of the majority is that each refiner agrees to shut down about two-thirds of his refining capacity and pledge himself for a stated term to run only so much oil as will be agreed upon by the convention. Each refiner will have the power to buy at any figure he may deem best, but will bind himself not to sell below a certain fixed rate. He will also bind himself not to sell short, or to sell to speculators who do sell short. This is about the sum and substance of the entire plan of co-operation. There will be no corporate combination, nor does the scheme necessitate the co-operation of producers. It is simply a plan of self-protection which cannot but be of benefit to the entire refining and producing interest. Nine tenths of the refiners of the country have already given an their adhesion to the main features of the plan. Nobody will be ruled out, and the necessity of co-operation is so apparent to every intelligent man, as well to the interests of refiners as to producers, that there is now great hope of something definite being accomplished within a very few days. Hoping that this plan statement of what we have been doing will disabuse the minds of your readers as to the existence of any such scheme indicated in the letter of your Oil City correspondent, with the promise that just as soon as any definite agreement has been arrived at, you will be notified of the fact,

I am, yours, very respectfully,

CREEK REFINER.

TITUSVILLE, July 26th 1872.

OUR NEXT STATE FAIR.—The Erie Observer gives us the following intelligence of the State Fair to be held at Erie this fall. The Fair Grounds are located a square west of the car works, and is a most beautiful site for the purpose. In the centre of the tract the ground rises to a considerable height, affording a fine view of the bay, lake and city. Around this ridge the half mile race track is to be laid out, and the spectators will have the horses in sight the whole way over the course. The tract to be occupied by the Fair comprises about thirty acres and will be enclosed by a high fence, which is already about half completed. The Lake Shore and Erie & Pittsburgh Railroads run along the south side of the grounds, affording unsurpassed facilities for exhibitors and visitors. Arrangements have been made with the Erie & Pittsburgh road to run passenger trains from the city to the Fair every twenty minutes, at a moderate charge. This will give an opportunity for those to visit the Fair who could not afford the expense of a carriage. Persons who go to the Fair by ordinary conveyance will enter the grounds by Twelfth street, and make their exit by a lane that leads to Eighth street. The various buildings will occupy the level ground near the railroad, and will be close together and easy of access. The cattle stalls will be on the west side, some distance in the rear of the hall for exhibitors. We were told by a member of the State Agricultural Society that more suitable grounds for the Fair could not have been chosen. The city water will be carried to every point where it will be needed. Present prospects for the fair are highly encouraging. It is the determination of the citizens of Erie to render the Fair in every way attractive and successful.

DAME, SMITH & CO have just completed a considerable improvement in their store by putting in a new show-window of French Plate Glass. The size of the panes are 126x49 inches, and are clear as crystal. The new windows will exhibit the hardware and carpenter's tools, &c to good advantage, when they are arranged.

THE Derrick is skeptical about the good sense or virtue of a circus man in refusing to harbor "runaway girls" and take them along with the show. We knew that a story of this sort would stimulate the Derrick to an investigation. Now we would suggest that it send its reporter to Corry to interview the parties themselves.

Petroleum Tests in England

Editor Herald:

We publish the following extract from a letter from a gentleman in London who has done more to introduce our oils in the United Kingdom of Great Britain than any other man there. This extract from his letter will show that the dealers in refined oil in London have no easy road before them, and we hope it will suggest some action upon the part of the refiners here to aid the dealers in London all they can.

* * * *

I have had a tremendous fight in the House of Lords for petroleum, the coal oil folks try to crush us every year or two by a bill in the Houses of Parliament and I have been the great cause of their not succeeding hitherto by fighting them, but this year we have insisted on having the whole thing ventilated and we got a select committee of the House of Lords and both sides gave evidence, we worked ours up splendidly, I was giving them my views on the subject for nearly two hours. Everything went on swimmingly, but at last we were nearly crushed by a man putting in Professor Chandler's report to the New York Board of Health, showing that in 1869 fifty two deaths were caused by kerosene and naphtha, and in 1870 no less than eighty four deaths were caused in New York alone, this was crushing evidence. Fortunately I was there, our counsel was thrown off his balance as it was so contrary to all our evidence. I got one of the Lords to ask the witness if a great deal of the oil sold in New York was not naphtha and kerosene mixed by the dealers, and after some hesitation we got out of him that out of 650 samples tested by Professor Chandler only 21 were safe oil. It is a thick pamphlet I could not get hold of it, but I remember some time ago reading an article on it in one of the papers. Can you get it and send it to me? It is of the greatest interest to the petroleum trade of the United States. The coal oil people want the test raised to 85 degrees in a closed vessel. This actually means 150 degrees, your present method of testing against 110 degrees, your regular standard, and will lead to heavy oils being sent here that will not burn, and then coal oils will be able to compete with petroleum.

I have worked like a slave at it and I hope we shall carry it. In 1868 we were upset by an American of the name of Lewis Hope who said he was a partner of Clark & Semmes, of the Standard Works, Pittsburgh, and swore he could make 150 degrees flash for half a cent to one cent a gallon above the cost of ordinary oil. But it cooked our goose, and we had 10 degrees higher test than you have, and now they want virtually to add another 10 degrees, but we have had a very fair hearing before the House of Lords and I will send you the evidence shortly. It has been a big fight and will be decided next week.

Thanks for oil journals which you send me from time to time.

Yours sincerely,

JOHN GODDARD JR.

Grant and Wilson Club at Shamburg.

MITTERLARM, PA., July 26.

Editor Herald:

Pursuant to call the Republicans of Shamburg met last evening at Grand Temple Hall, for the purpose of organizing a Grant and Wilson Club. A constitution and by-laws were adopted, and the following named gentlemen were elected officers of the club:

President—John R Dunn.

Vice President—A M Williams.

Recording Secretary—F S Barker.

Corresponding Secretary—George E Maple.

Treasurer—C L Poor.

After the organization was effected, Mr O A Tanner, of Philadelphia, was introduced by the President, and regaled us with a stirring speech. Notwithstanding the severe rain, the hall was well filled and the audience enthusiastic. The Republicans of Shamburg are alive and have no defections to report. All of them, to a man, will go for Grant. We have a fine military band organized from among our own ranks, and in a few days expect to raise a large pole, and spread to the breeze a magnificent Grant and Wilson flag.

CHOLERA INFANTUM.—The scourge of Titusville and of many other cities just now is cholera infantum, which is sweeping away infant mortality at an alarming rate. The principal causes of the disease are said to be First, indirectly, the heightened temperature of the atmosphere, which predisposes the general system to congestion and inflammatory action; secondly, undue taxation of the digestive function, through injudicious feeding; and thirdly, and, perhaps, most of all important, the influence upon the system of such water as is generally provided in cities for drinking purposes. The following suggestions in relation to the general management of cholera infantum have been prepared for the Philadelphia Press by D C H Hassler of that city, whose experience shows that such treatment has been attended with the happiest results. Moreover, it is similar to that generally adopted by physicians under like circumstances.

First of all, it is essential to keep

THE CHILD COOL.

This may be best accomplished by means of frequent and protracted bathing in water cooler than the atmosphere. If the temperature of the atmosphere is very high—say about from 90 to 70 Fahrenheit, or if it be close and oppressive—the bathing should be repeated a number of times during the course of the day, the water for this purpose being regulated to about 65 or 70 degrees. Sometimes, instead of immersing the child in the water, it may suffice to sponge it copiously. Thus treated, the child will feel cool and comfortable for several hours after which the process may be repeated, there being no cause for apprehension whatever that the little one will be weakened thereby (as is sometimes erroneously supposed), even if kept in the water for half an hour at a time.

AS TO DIET.

The most important article of food is milk, accompanied, after the tenth month of the infant's age, with a small quantity of crushed water cracker, soaked so much in the milk, in the form of "pap." Great care should be taken not to overfeed babies during the warm season as the function of digestion at such time is just as much averse to being overworked as are the functions of the muscle. Every one knows what a feeling of languor and disinclination for exercise heat produces—in the feeling the stomach participates with proportion.

THE MILK

that is used should be as fresh as it can possibly be had. If a cow could be milked every time that the baby needs feeding, it would be all the better. At all events the milk should be freshly drawn from the udder at least twice a day, and to facilitate the preservation should be immediately boiled, and then cooled and kept on ice in closely-covered vessels. It should be remembered that milk, as contained in the cow's udder, is a living, vital secretion, and has been called liquid flesh, but the moment it becomes separated from the living body, into an extraneous vessel, it assumes a different character, which, though not so apparent as is the case with the coagulation of blood when drawn from the veins, nevertheless modifies it to some extent as food for the young, and certainly hastens towards decomposition. It is for the purpose of staying this process to some extent that the milk should be boiled. All the water, too, that is given to infants for drink and, when cooled and settled, carefully poured off from the top, bottled and kept on ice. The process of boiling purifies and destils the water, and destroys the vitality, to a great extent at least, of the parasites it may have contained. But to do still more towards neutralizing the injurious effects of the water, a few drops of pure Cognac brandy should be added to every drink given the infant. Sometimes a few drops of lemon juice (if the child is a year old or over) may be added or a little camomile tea, in the proportion of a teaspoonful to a wine glass of the water. A very little sugar, also, should always be added.

SHOULD FIRST BE BOILED,

Of water thus modified the child may drink without let or hindrance, guarding only against too large quantities at a time. In fact, the water thus given will aid in cooling the blood from within, and diminishing its tendency towards congestion, even as the lotions and bathing exert this effect from without.

THE GAME LAWS.—The act approved on the 5th of May 1871, makes it illegal for any person to take, kill, or expose for sale, or have unlawfully in his or their possession, in the counties of Erie, Crawford, Warren, Elk, Mercer, Cameron or Forest, any ruffed grouse or pheasant, between the first day of February and the first day of August in any year, any woodcock between the fifteenth of November and the fifteenth of July, any gray or English snipe between the first day of November and the first day of March or any speckled or brook trout, except in the months of April, May, June, July and the first fifteen days of August in any year. The penalty for a violation of the law is five dollars for each bird or trout unlawfully taken, which may be exposed for sale by any person or found in his possession.

Steam on the Canals

Williamson's road engine Enterprise was at work yesterday on the tow path between Albany and Port Schuyler The machine is thirteen feet in length by seven feet wide, with an upright boiler of eight-horse power There is a double horizontal engine, with two cylinders, each with a ten-inch stroke, enclosed in a box. There are two driving-wheels, five feet in diameter, the tires of which are fifteen inches wide, covered with stout India-rubber, and protected by iron shoes about five inches wide, and set about three feet apart The steering wheel is three feet in diameter, with a tire twelve inches in width. The seat for the engineer is directly in front of the engine which is managed by a double crank On either side of this seat are water tanks, and in the rear are two coal bunkers The machine can be turned on its own ground, and works much the same as a velocipede. In height the engine is eight feet from the ground to the top of the boiler The smoke-stack is hinged, so as to be lowered when passing under bridges. The engine is twenty-four horse power Four boats, three loaded and one light, were hitched to the steamer, and were propelled at the rate of about four and a quarter miles an hour The first mile was made in thirteen minutes The Enterprise is valued at $5,000, and was built about three years ago It has worked successfully on roads, and the owners are confident of its success in canal boat towing.—Troy Whig, July 18

MORTAR FOR BRICK WORK

MORTAR FOR STONE WORK,

MORTAR FOR PLASTERING

FURNISHED BY

CHAS. CARSON,

And manufactured at his Mortar Mill, corner of Washington St. and Oil Creek R. R

The ingredients for the mortar are proportioned by invariable rule. They are of the best quality and mixed thoroughly—far better than can be done by hand in the old-fashioned and expensive way. It can be supplied in Large Quantities on Short Notice.

For the last two years I have furnished this Mortar for various large buildings, among them the Parshall Block. Read the following remarks

ABOUT LIME, SAND, AND PROPORTIONS FOR MORTARS

Most men know that the lime and sand are the common ingredients in mortar; that there are several varieties and qualities of each, and that when they are properly selected, proportioned and commingled, they will form a cement and endure for ages. On the other hand, we know that the greater proportion of mortars as now made and used, soon crumble and waste away, and this exhibits the fact, that poor mortars are, in the end very expensive.

One thing is certain, we either do, or do not know, how to make them. If we do know how they should be made, to last and endure, then "let it be put in every contract that it shall be done." If we do not know, let us own this truth, and try and learn.

I believe that when good mortars are made, that it is more the result of "happen-in-hit," than of knowledge, and that some method or rule of proportioning the ingredients is required

To make the best mortar that can be made from the materials to be used, we should know how to proportion and commingle them

To make the very best we must know how to select, as well as to proportion and commingle them.

It is of no use to properly proportion mortar, if it is not properly prepared and thoroughly commingled. Man cannot be relied upon to do it Nothing but a machine will work mortar as it ought to be

I am prepared to sell County Rights for using Mortar Machines, for nearly all of Pennsylvania.
